

Dr. James Lemerond

Dr. Lemerond has worked in higher education, focused on student achievement, since 2000. He started at Lakeshore Technical College in Cleveland, WI, as an adjunct faculty in 2001. From there, Jim transitioned to teaching and managing a medical imaging program in Milwaukee, WI. In 2007 he moved back to Lakeshore full-time, where he served as a Radiography Program Faculty/Chair, Dean of Health and Human Services, and Dean of Business, Technology, and Hospitality. In 2018 he transitioned to the Vice President of Instruction at Lakeshore Technical College.

As the Vice President of Instruction, Dr. Lemerond provides strategic leadership for planning, developing, implementing, and evaluating credit and noncredit programs and student learning outcomes within the college. Jim worked with the college faculty and deans to transition courses into flexible delivery to meet the needs of today's learners. He provides leadership for planning, developing, implementing, and evaluating workforce programs through credit/noncredit, continuing education, and corporate training initiatives. Over this time, the college has realized a substantial increase in revenue through contract training, more university transfer opportunities, and program growth in essential fields in the college district.

Jim holds an Associate degree in Radiography from Northcentral Technical College, a Bachelor's degree in Health Arts, a Master's degree in Training and Development from the University of St. Francis, and a Doctorate in Educational Leadership from the University of the Cumberlands.

Jim is married to his wife, Carie, and they have two adult sons, Nick and Matt, who live in New York and Milwaukee (respectively). Jim and Carie enjoy spending time outdoors, watching the Green Bay Packers, visiting family, and traveling.
